PURPOSE

To provide guidelines for prioritizing immediacy and priority of needs. To set standards for completing the mental health screening, appraisal, assessment, and treatment plan for outpatient services.

POLICY

I. Offenders shall be screened, appraised, and assessed, as clinically indicated, to identify mental health needs. Behavioral health services shall be provided to all offenders identified as having a serious mental illness. Behavioral health services shall also be provided to those offenders identified as having less serious issues related to emotional, cognitive and/or behavioral needs.

II. A Mental Health Assessment shall be provided by a psychologist and/or clinical social worker with the necessary education, credentials, and experience to, within the scope of their professional licensure, provide assessment, treatment, and services for individuals with mental health issues.

III. The Department’s Director of Behavioral Health Services, in conjunction with the Behavioral Health Assistant Directors and Social Work Program Director, shall be responsible for assessing and addressing program standards, practices, and service delivery, and for ensuring compliance with policies and procedures.

IV. For purposes of this policy, any reference made to “offender(s)” shall also apply to safekeepers.

DEFINITIONS

Intersystem admission: An offender admitted to the Division of Prisons.

Intrasystem transfer: Reassignment of an offender from one prison facility to another within the North Carolina Division of Prisons or a transfer from one unit to another within a prison.

Mental Health Screening: An initial inquiry to identify offenders at higher potential risk for, or who currently report, experiencing mental health-related problems. Screening instruments are brief, first-step, low-threshold measures designed to determine whether or not further evaluation for mental problems is necessary.

Mental Health Appraisal: A brief written assessment, the focus of which is to provide a statement regarding an offender’s current status and mental health concerns. An appraisal should provide a broad, although not necessarily in-depth, clinical picture of an offender’s mental status and should include a recommendation regarding the need for further evaluation and treatment.

Comprehensive Mental Health Assessment: A detailed clinical evaluation that identifies specific mental health problems including, when appropriate, diagnoses (or diagnostic changes), and upon which determination of a treatment plan and subsequent services is to be based. A Comprehensive Mental Health Assessment is completed by a psychologist and/or clinical social worker.
